

WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY

Sentigy places the highest value on protecting the privacy of its website visitors. It is important for you to understand what information we collect about you during your visit to our website and what we do with that information. Your visit to this website is subject to the following Privacy Policy. This policy may be updated from time to time and we encourage you to check this page periodically for any updates.

INFORMATION COLLECTION AND USE

Personal Information:

We do not collect personally identifiable information about you, except when you provide it to us. For example, if you decide to complete a form asking for additional information about our products, or to be contacted by us, you may be asked to provide certain contact information such as your name, company name, email address, mailing address and phone numbers, etc. Any personal information provided and collected will be used solely for the purpose(s) for which it was collected (for example, to send you additional information about our products or services that you requested) unless you indicate otherwise.

Anonymous Information:

You can visit our website without telling us who you are or revealing any personal information to us. We may collect information about your computer, including your IP address, operating system and browser type, for system administration and in order to create reports. This is statistical data about our users' browsing actions and patterns, and does not identify any individual.

USE OF COOKIES

The only cookies in use on our site are for Google Analytics. Google Analytics is a web analytics tool that helps website owners understand how visitors engage with their website. Google Analytics customers can view a variety of reports about how visitors interact with their website so they can improve it.

Like many services, Google Analytics uses first-party cookies to track visitor interactions as in our case, where they are used to collect information about how visitors use our site. We then use the information to compile reports and to help us improve our site.

Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive. These cookies are used to store information, such as the time that the current visit occurred, whether the visitor had been to the site before and what site referred the visitor to the website.

Google Analytics collects information anonymously. It reports website trends without identifying individual visitors. You can opt out of Google Analytics without affecting how you visit our website – for more information on opting out of being tracked by Google Analytics across all websites you use, visit this Google page.
